Summer Potluck & Garden Party

Come celebrate summer in the beautiful Heart of Anacortes garden hosted by How It Works. This is a potluck event so whip up your Aunt Lemona’s special sour cream pie, Uncle Maudell’s whiskey baked beans, or Grandma Hattie’s (secret family recipe) buttermilk fried chicken! Beer will be available from Rockfish Grill for $3/pint in the Heart garden. The party is on Thursday, July 14, and it starts at 3pm and lasts until 6pm. Be sure to bring a give-away-gift for the summer drawing!

Don your best (or worst!)—Bermudas, sun hats, flip-flops... prizes for the best! The Heart of Anacortes is located at 1014 4th Street. Please RSVP to the chamber at (360) 293-7911.

Quantum Construction

Quantum Construction is a local commercial, residential and Built Green construction company. Quantum has been serving Skagit Valley since 1984 and has been owned by Karin and Mike Baldwin since 2005. The Quantum team tackles projects including residential remodels, new homes, store and restaurant improvements, new commercial buildings and major commercial complexes.

The event is co-sponsored by Avenue Catering, the premier catering company for Greater Western Washington with menus ranging from finger foods to fine dining. Avenue will be grilling up steak sandwiches onsite. Stop by to meet Bob and Barbara Atterberry, the driving force behind Avenue, Bob’s Chowder Bar and Flounder Bob’s! Quantum is located at 12761 Quantum Lane. The after hours is on Thursday, July 21, and runs 5:30–7pm. Please RSVP to the chamber at (360) 293-7911, and be sure to bring a gift for the give-away!

The After Hours will feature:
• A chance to try construction equipment for prizes!
• Special prize drawings!
• Callebaut Chocolate Fountain
• See our newly remodeled conference room!
• See how Quantum builds our community!
• And a special unveiling of our new division!
Facebook, Twitter, My Website—Help!!!

One of the biggest changes in conducting business today is the internet. It has taken us 20+ years—but yes now we can conduct business via email. About 30% of my customer payments are coming in electronically, though invoices and statements still go out by snail mail—but that is changing. My fax machine is now going the way of my old typewriter. I feel pretty good that all of my faxes now go to my email. I am making some progress.

My website is never as up to date as I would like it to be. My graphic designer and webmaster are always waiting for me to write up the next great thing and direct the graphics. Who has quiet time to write when running a business? Oh, by the way, I now have four web sites I am trying to keep up to date. What was I thinking?

My e-commerce site is making money for me by keeping its doors open 24/7 but it is not “interfaced” to my accounting on Quickbooks requiring double-entry!!! I am amazed by the sleep deprived customers who place orders at 3am. My business friends keep asking me when I will be making regular posts to my business Facebook. I have a smart phone which is much smarter than I am and my “friends” keep asking me when I will start sending out Tweets!! Does this sound like you? Do you share my pain as a business person and chamber member? There is a reason to this rant in this column. Your Anacortes Chamber is looking to the future and how we can help our members be more competitive and better marketers through the internet. More on this later.

While the internet has brought new, low cost, options for communication and marketing, it has added a new layer of challenges and quite frankly it is still complicated and without standards. Talk to any of your fellow chamber business members and we are all running a “custom” configuration. Aren’t we lucky!

Internet shopping for many of our members is creating new competition, for others it is creating new opportunities. For those with physical storefronts, you still have the advantage of your personalized service and the personality of your store, something missing in the online experience. Keep that in mind when you think about the Amazons of the world and whether they are going to take all of your customers and sales. They still cannot give the level of personalized service you can and you have the option of broadening your business outside of your storefront through the internet—if you have the time to nurture and grow a new business on the internet. Think of it as a new business because it has its own rules and takes a fair amount of time to set it up and make it work.

Now, just when you think you have an online presence, here comes social media through Facebook, Twitter and other tools to connect to our customers. For many of us, we don’t understand these new communications channels and we would prefer to market our businesses the way we always have been. For some this will work, but for many we can make our businesses more successful and profitable using these new tools.

I became a convert last fall when the chamber began to market our new Oktoberfest Beer on the Pier event through Facebook. We encouraged our participating brewmasters to get the word out—and like magic the word got out to tens of thousands of beer fanatics, many who made plans and did come to Anacortes to join the fun for our first time event. How did this happen? Through a few key strokes the brewmasters took our announcement on Facebook and forwarded it to all their Facebook friends, many who went further and sent it to their list of friends. The word of our Oktoberfest spread out like a spiderweb and our event rode on the power of our brewmaster’s Facebook mailing lists.

Interested in learning more? Email us at the chamber and let us know if you are interested in seminars or using some of the new electronic services for your business. A survey will be going out in July to survey our members on their interest and needs for their internet efforts. If the interest is there we may start offering more programs to support our members. Meanwhile, I am going to go back to writing copy for my website. Have a successful summer season.
It has always been a vision to have a bakery that has the best local, natural and if possible organic ingredients for a healthier baked alternative for owners Terri and Craig. Each of Old Town Bakery Co creations incorporate organic and natural ingredients for the best and healthiest alternative. A treat does not have to equal unhealthy, if it has whole ingredients, such as real fruit and real grains, to supply the body with real nutrients. And our savories are second to none. Savory scones and cheese cakes. Old Town Bakery has quiche, popovers, fruit cups, and Greek yogurts for a different breakfast choice. Terri makes her own cheese for her creations of tiramisu and certain frostings or fillings. Their breads have whole grains and whole wheat with just the right amount of honey when needed. Their scones, pastries, pies and cakes deserve the same real grain ingredients. Their gluten-free cookies, bread, muffins, cakes, macaroons, and more delight those who want a wheat free choice. Their sandwiches have been prepared with their special breads to increase the flavor of the chicken pesto, smoked salmon, zucchini patties and more. They love to see the enjoyment from their customers when they have tasted fun savories and treats made with the best.

Terri and Craig have enjoyed serving Anacortes and the surrounding areas with such tasty creations. They invite everyone to come, relax and let their inviting friendly staff serve you the best.

“Why did we move to this beautiful area? It was too hard to resist,” says Craig, who was transferred to this area from Idaho for his work in the agriculture industry. Terri followed and found that Anacortes needed a bakery to serve the community. So in August 2010, Old Town Bakery Co became a business entity of the State of Washington. With a lot of work the bakery opened in November of 2010. Craig and Terri have enjoyed baking for Anacortes from that moment forward, and think it’s fun to see everyone enjoy what Old Town Bakery Co offers.

Look in after hours, and you may see them up and dancing with the music—of course trying to sing. Come see what Old Town Bakery Co has for you.

When she was 18, Bela Berghuys came to the U.S. from The Netherlands to study communications at Western Washington University. Her mother, who had owned a B & B in Holland, followed shortly, buying Islands Inn in Anacortes in 1982, and opening La Petite restaurant in 1984. Asked to help out for a season, Bela is still there—25 years later—now, the inn’s owner, manager, and whatever else is needed.

When, in 2002, La Petite closed temporarily, Bela (pronounced Bay-la) discovered her energies were better focused on the hotel and caring for her two sons. Cameron’s Living Room Dining took over the dining space. But now that her sons are grown and Cameron’s has moved downtown, Bela has put her own stamp back on the property—opening Petite Wine Bar in June, tucked behind Islands Inn at 3401 Commercial.

The wine bar is the type of place Bela likes to go herself with a few friends, she says. Quiet and relaxed, it offers a small quality wine list put together by Doug Charles of Compass Wines—small, less-well-known vineyards with great wine at reasonable prices. You’ll also find a selection of appetizers, soups, salads, and beers to enjoy, from 4-8pm, Tuesday—Saturday.

Collaborating with other businesses began for Bela upon joining the chamber and learning the power of a community voice. She now sits on the chamber’s board of directors, the marketing and promotions division, and chairs the accommodations committee.

“I have learned so much from being a part of the chamber,” she says. “Business here is very different than in the Netherlands. There,” she explains, “people speak only modestly about themselves or their business. Here—and today—it’s a necessity to let people know what you have to offer them.” Joining forces with other businesses to offer Islands Inn lodging packaged with, for instance, tickets for a Deception Pass Tours jet boat ride or the Anacortes Wine Festival has proved an excellent way to attract new customers, she says.

And Anacortes has proved a wonderful place to put down roots. “I love to travel,” Bela says, “but every time I come home, I realize it’s more beautiful here than anywhere I could go.”
Tourism

Oh Canada~

It’s official, the ads aboard the Chelan ferry are up. The upstairs portion of the ferry is full of life size ads showing Anacortes to be a “must visit” destination. We will be tracking the QR code activity from the ads; look for more to come.

Boulevard magazine is our extended reach to the Victoria market reader with 46K copies distributed each month with strong reader demographics to travelers. Our ads will appear in the August and September issues and focus on weekend/holiday travel.

As we continue to work on bringing the ferry traffic to Shop, Stay, Eat and Play we will be broadening our scope of reach in the Canadian market. Over the next few weeks we will be placing full page advertising in the Victoria Times Colonist to reach over 150K readers inviting the Canadian visitors to make Anacortes a destination and offering local advertisers the opportunity to reach that market with low cost advertising. If you’re interested in learning more about these advertising opportunities please contact Leah Hines 360.293.7911/ Lhines@anacortes.org

Summit Assistance Dogs

Summit Assistance Dogs has been announced the Day 28 winner in the Toyota 100 Cars for Good program. By winning the vote, Toyota will be donating a new Toyota Prius to Summit. This will allow Summit to redirect many thousands of dollars annually from mileage reimbursement and fuel expenses towards acquiring and placing even more highly skilled assistance dogs.

Toyota placed five organizations against each other in an online vote each day for 100 days. Summit was selected, as a finalist from more than 5000 organizations and Sunday June 5th was Summit’s voting day. Summit received an overwhelming show of support earning over 45% of the total votes. This would not have been possible without the support of the Anacortes Chamber of Commerce and all of the members who supported us and we want to say thank you.

While we were sure we had run a very strong campaign and had high hopes, this victory was truly a surprise to us. One of our competitors is affiliated with a large national not-for-profit organization with a massive reach. This is a victory not only for Summit, but a victory for our programs, our graduates, our applicants and our dogs. It would not have been possible without you. Yes, this victory is truly yours. Whether you voted or not, helped to get the word out or not...just your support of Summit...its mission...its vision...its business model allowed us to market a truly premier program that remains true to making our community a better place.

Summit remains committed to changing the lives of people living with disabilities, rescuing shelter dogs and softening the hearts of incarcerated men through our prison program. We strive to be cost effective, to not duplicate services and remain true to our mission and vision. The Anacortes Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee has been working with the City of Anacortes and WSDOT to redesign the unlandscaped triangle property to the right heading up from the ferry terminal.

The redesign plan will include a flag area to recognize our sister cities—the Anacortes Sister Cities Association has agreed to fund that portion. Other features will include a rock river, islands of greenery, trees and a new welcome sign.

The cost of the redesign is projected to be $25,000. We are working to raise these funds from the community. As part of the fundraising efforts, community members can purchase the chance to name the street that is just west of the property.

$10 will enter you into the drawing • 25 finalists’ entries will be screened for appropriateness 1 winner will be randomly chosen from the finalists

Enter more than once! Increase your chances, and help us meet our goal!

Entry forms available on our Web site at www.anacortes.org

Leileah Petty

Leileah Petty was born in Skagit County in the city of Mount Vernon. Other than a short time living in Louisiana she has spent the majority of her life in Anacortes. She attended Skagit Valley College for paralegal studies. In the middle of her second year of college she married Jeremy, a sailor in United States Navy, which took her to south Texas for a couple years. While employed as a paralegal she was able to finish her college degree, receiving her B.A. in Business Management. Leileah’s heart was set on returning to Anacortes. In early 2009 when Jeremy went from active duty to the reserves, she got her wish. Since returning to Anacortes, Leileah and her husband have become deeply involved as the youth leaders in their church as well as being involved with the church’s music team. Leileah enjoys kayaking, hiking, camping, and going on road trips with her husband. In 2009 she started her own insurance agency with Farmers Insurance. With a strong desire to better know and serve her community Leileah joined the Anacortes Chamber of Commerce. Now, as a Chamber Ambassador, she has been able to get to know some of the individuals that help make Anacortes the unique and memorable place that it is. Leileah believes that being a part of the Anacortes Chamber is such a great asset to anyone who wants to be involved in this inspiring community.
