Networking is on the menu

Vacation is over and it is time to get back into the game! Summer doesn’t mean we stop marketing, but there can be a definite dip as we focus our time on enjoying our beautiful surroundings. The chamber wants to rev up your marketing efforts.

Join us for the Business Connections Lunch on Thursday, September 9 at 11:30 am at the Anacortes Lutheran Church (22nd and O Ave.). This luncheon is designed to introduce you and your business to up to 21 other members in a short time frame. It’s networking “speed dating” style.

Bring marketing material, a positive attitude and your polished one-minute elevator speech (what you want people to remember about you and your business).

The Business Connections Lunch is sponsored by Manpower who leads in the creation and delivery of services that enable their clients to win in the changing world of work. Contact Manpower today at (360) 757-4536 to see what they can do for you!

Here’s what your peers are saying about the Business Connections Lunch:

“I have attended many Anacortes Chamber events. The business connections lunch has been great for referrals. I am able to learn what your business actually does. As business owners we sometimes assume that everyone knows all the services that we offer. The quick commercials have helped me pass on and receive proper referrals. It is fun and affordable marketing that gets your message out to a room of people.”

Tammy Masalonis—McGregor Benefits

“ The Anacortes Chamber of Commerce Business Connections Lunch provides a unique opportunity to meet new business people in town. Each lunch has been responsible for at least one new appointment, attending the lunch” (see Business Connections continued on page 6)

Navigating The Future

This month’s business after hours will follow the Navigating the Future Senior Resource Fair at the port warehouse on Friday, September 10 from 4:30–6:00 pm. The event will be co-sponsored by Rockfish Grill/Anacortes Brewery and catered by Adrift. Please note the date and time change.

Not only will this be our usual after hours mixer, but also be extension of the resource fair, with many of the vendors showcasing their products and services. Please RSVP to the chamber.
As I write this in mid-August, summer continues in full swing. Commercial is busy, with challenging traffic and a lot of folks out walking the streets. Hopefully this has translated into positive results for your business. Two of our beautification elements have been evident this season to mixed results. The banners took quite a beating in May from high winds. We have endeavored to stay on top of them as summer progressed—thanks to Anchor Signs and their lift truck for continuing to straighten and adjust. We will be inventorying in November and replacing selected banners as needed for next year. On the plus side, the flower baskets recovered nicely and look great. This is largely due to city employees, who provided daily watering and much TLC. Thank you Parks & Rec!

I wanted to take a few moments to review two studies that were recently completed. The first was an intercept survey that was conducted in July—you can review results elsewhere in this newsletter. The idea of such a survey came out of a conference that I attended earlier this year in Port Townsend. It was suggested that chambers undertake an intercept every 2–3 years, with the goal of getting independent opinions from folks in the downtown. It was decided by our Marketing & Promotions division to take the opportunity to also determine tourism-related information. Based on the results, there were a number of interesting conclusions. First, roughly ½ of our visitors generate in-state, which validates our marketing focus over the past couple of years. Many of the people shopping in our stores live in La Conner, the Islands, or Oak Harbor—over 20% of respondents shop here at least monthly. On the whole our downtown core generates positive comments—visitors like its look and feel, the shops, restaurants, flower baskets, and location. A consistent “dislike” for tourists was the lack of WALK signals—many felt that crossing the street was not safe. Finally many people were drawn to the downtown because of business—either they work there or seek professional services. This is a contingent that could potentially respond to appropriate marketing and promotional efforts by local businesses. We will be reviewing this survey in our various divisions over the next few months and will incorporate these results into continuing efforts.

The second study involved an updating of our Economic Development metric. You can read a synopsis of the results in our Key Business Trends update on the website under the Relocation Tab (Doing Business). The report summarizes activity through the first half of the year (Sales/Use tax receipts and Hotel/Motel tax receipts are delayed from DOR and reflect data through May). Briefly, Sales & Use payments to the city have bounced back somewhat and are up 17% over 2009 levels, a positive development. Hotel/Motel tax is down $7K from a year ago—this may reflect that lack of a refinery turnaround this year. Housing sales are up 56% year-over-year and are almost back to 2008 levels. The average selling price held steady at approximately $350K—this is a healthy development for our real estate industry. Building permits were up 13% over 2009. Relocation packet requests were up 19%. Transient boat nights at the Boat Haven were up 30% and trailer boat launches up 6%. Based on these statistics, it would appear that our local economy is trending back toward more normal totals.

Be assured that the chamber remains totally focused on helping local businesses succeed. I greatly appreciate your continued support. If there is anything that I can to assist, please don’t hesitate to contact me. Have a wonderful fall season.

Changes/updates in Small Group Market in the State of Washington

Per WA Bill ESSB 6538, effective October 1, 2010, the small group market will include “groups of one” such as sole proprietors. An individual must have been employed by the same employer for at least 12 months prior to application for small group coverage and verify that at least 75% of his or her income is derived from the business. Submission of Tax form 1040 is required as proof.

The WA State Health Care Authority has launched the “Health Insurance Partnership” (HIP) to provide healthcare access for low-wage workers. The HIP offers a premium subsidy to eligible employees, based on their family income. Small employers (with 1–50 employees) can enroll in HIP if they do not currently offer health insurance coverage to their employees, and if at least 50% of their employees are low-wage. HIP will begin accepting applications in September 2010 for health insurance coverage effective January 1, 2011. Funds are limited and applications will be processed on a first come, first served basis.

For more information or assistance regarding the above changes/updates, please call Alice Bohnker, Alice Bohnker Insurance at 360 588 8302.
school district update

What’s new in Anacortes schools?

Opening day of school is just around the corner and Anacortes School District is busy preparing to make 2010–2011 a pivotal learning and growing year for students and staff.

First, I wanted to thank Fidalgo Island residents for their tremendous support and generosity in overwhelmingly passing last year’s school levy with one of highest approval percentages in the State of Washington. Our community not only provides support to educate our students, but holds us accountable to see that each student leaves our schools not only College/Work Ready, but with the necessary skills and knowledge to compete in a global economy.

This continuing support is enormously important, as the district has faced significant challenges over the past few years, focused primarily around declining enrollment and school funding cuts from the state.

Despite these challenges, the district continues to push forward to ensure students are meeting our goals of becoming School Ready, Transition Ready and College/Work Ready. To that end, we are fortunate to have staff members who have worked hard to pursue and obtain grant funding that has allowed us to maintain/expand valuable programs for our students. Two of note:

• School Ready Project
  Over the last three years, the district has benefitted greatly from a grant from the Gates Foundation for $500,000 focused on the implementation of programs, staffing and resources to reach our School Ready goals. As a result of the efforts and expertise of our staff, the Gates Foundation has committed to two additional years of funding, which will be used to continue our programs and provide in-depth training and resources on “best practices” with our pre-school through grade three teachers.

• Teacher/Principal Evaluation Grant
  The district was awarded one of four state grants and began its work with a two-day conference in early August where the Governor’s Office and Superintendent for Public Instruction gave us our charge to create a new evaluation model for the state. Our teachers and principals embrace this challenge and are committed to developing a model that improves instruction and student achievement.

Thank you Anacortes for your continued generosity and support of our staff and students.

—Chris Borgen, Superintendent

Oyster Run 2010

The 29th Annual Oyster Run will take place on Sunday, September 26. Many of the riders come for the entire weekend, filling up hotels, restaurants and retail establishments. The Oyster Run is the largest of the Northwest motorcycle events and is on the 2010 Lightning Customs’ Major Biker Rally List.

Wendy’s delegation visits Anacortes

Trident Seafoods hosted the executive vendors of the Wendy’s Corporation in August. The group of over 60 people from all over North America spent one morning touring local businesses, with an afternoon and evening off to explore the Pacific Northwest. Chamber staff assisted with organizing tours with John Dumas of Puget Sound Rope and Robert Lund of Dakota Creek Industries. We would like to thank chamber member Peggy Flynn (flynn+associates), chamber board member Matt McKay (HR Strategies), and port staff member, John Hachey for acting as tour guides. Gere-A-Deli was also instrumental in ensuring the group enjoyed Pacific Northwest fare and Rockfish Brewery for pouring our own local brew.

Intercept Survey Results

The survey was conducted July 19-23 between 3rd & 10th Streets. Potential respondents were approached randomly and asked to provide a ZIP code, which was used to determine whether they were a resident or non-resident. Residents were then asked questions relating to length of residency, reason for their downtown visit, likes/dislikes about the downtown core, and what other business they would like to see. Visitors were asked tourism questions related to length and frequency of visit, reason for visiting, how they heard about Anacortes, likes/dislikes about downtown, and what other business they would like to see.

200 responses were obtained. Residents and non-residents were each roughly 50% of the total. 32% of residents were visiting the downtown for work/professional reasons, 25% for shopping, 15% for dining, and 10% for the post office. Residents liked downtown shops, the small town feel, the historic look, and the friendly people. They disliked the lack of convenient parking, storefront vacancies, the lack of water access, inconvenient store hours, the need for more shops, and the general run-down appearance of many of the storefronts. They would like to see clothing and shoe stores, a large retail store, shops and activities for young people, and a bakery.

Approximately half of non-residents were comprised of tourists and half involved those from outlying areas (principally La Conner and the Islands) who use Anacortes for shopping. This group liked the shops, restaurants, small town feel, historic look, cleanliness, the flower baskets, proximity to water/marina, and the friendly people. They disliked the lack of walk signals, empty storefronts, lack of building upkeep, and the need for more shops. Their desired businesses largely mirrored those of residents above.

Land-Use Applications—Proposed Changes

There are proposed changes to the land-use application process that are winding their way through city review. The gist of the changes would be to introduce a professional hearing examiner, who would take the lead role in approving applications. Many cities in WA have gone this route, with a goal of streamlining the process and encouraging economic development. Briefly:

Applications are currently reviewed for completeness, the public is notified and invited to comment, responses are reviewed by city staff, staff prepares a recommendation on the application to the Planning Commission, who then holds a public hearing and makes a recommendation on the application to the City Council. The Council’s decision is appealable to the courts.

The proposed change would keep much of the process in place, with the following changes. The Planning Commission session would result in non-binding comments and recommendations to the applicant to consider going forward, which would also be considered by city staff in their review. The application and city comments would then go before a professional Hearing Examiner, who would issue a formal decision on the application. This decision would be appealable to the City Council.

The net effect would be a professional review, with input from the Planning Commission and an appeal process to the City Council. There would still be public input and city staff involvement but the process would be considerably more straightforward than at present.

We encourage you to call or e-mail City Council members to express your support for the proposed change. Contact information is available on the chamber’s website under governmental affairs.

Chamber Cheers

This year’s Chamber Cheers – It’s A Wonderful Life in Anacortes will celebrate our beautiful community as we honor the commitment of our leaders. The committee has been busy planning an evening full of surprises you are sure to enjoy.

Promotion though sponsorship is available at various levels, this helps keep our ticket prices low—$40 per person for a full dinner, a commemorative photo and dancing.

Mark your calendar for Saturday, November 6th, 6:00 pm to 11:00 pm at the Historic Port of Anacortes Warehouse.

Once again we will be selecting a recipient for the Community Service Excellence Award. Be thinking about which chamber member goes above and beyond to make A Wonderful Life in Anacortes. Also, we would like to start collecting pictures of members in action – not just at our events, but being people in the community. Please submit those so we can showcase them at the event.

“The business connections lunch has been very beneficial for my company and developing new business in Anacortes. At the Business Connections lunch last fall a chamber member that I have known for a year or so was at my table and he had no idea what I did professionally. He caught me after the meeting to discuss how my company may be able to help his. Later we met and it has become a very mutually rewarding business relationship. This is the second time I have developed business directly from my involvement with this event. I would encourage all members regardless of their business type to attend and talk up what they do.”

Navigating the Future

Join us at the Port Warehouse on Friday, September 10th, 2010, from 11:30 am to 3:30 pm for our Annual Navigating the Future Senior Resource Fair! This free fair is designed for anyone over the age of 50 who is looking for information on the Anacortes community. There will be business professionals to help answer your questions on financial investments, medical clinics, legal issues, alternative healthcare, real estate, senior living communities, and much, much more. There will also be representatives there to answer your questions on what the local community offers in the way of recreation, service organizations, volunteer opportunities, advocacy programs, support groups and again, much, much more.

The resource fair is designed to fill a need in Anacortes and the Island communities, to build awareness for our residents, and to help seniors find out about all the wonderful services and opportunities the area offers for help and involvement. You would be surprised how many of last year’s participants discovered what our beautiful town has to offer by attending the fair!

Whether you’re looking for information to serve your private needs or wants, or if you’re a local business person wanting to expand your knowledge on what is available locally, join us!

New entertainment venue

Chris Terrell (left) and Mark Edson introduce a new entertainment venue this weekend with a Saturday afternoon show at “The Heart of Anacortes,” an outdoor stage on the corner of 4th Street and “O” Avenue. During a period of economic struggle in this region, Terrell and Edson have invested in dramatic facility improvements in and around How It Works, the graphics and design company established here in 1994. Project elements range from remodel of the How It Works interior to construction of Heart of Anacortes stage and public restrooms. Also operating under the How It Works umbrella will be Northwest Images, a virtual gallery that will feature regional art and photography. Look for the Heart of Anacortes to become an important draw in the arts and entertainment community.
